Origin Of Fatal Talbert Fire Mystery

MAIL 3 AS SUSPECTS IN BLAZE

Two Stores Wiped Out As Fighters Battle Flames Fanned by Wind

MAN, 82, PERISHES AS HIS DOOR IS BOLTED

Moans of Aged Worker Are Unavailing; Jury In Accident Verdict

Though unable to determine the exact circumstances surrounding the origin of the fire, a coroner's jury at Huntington Beach today returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of W. Randall, believed to be 82 years old, who was burned to death in a fire which totally destroyed the S. E. Talbert hardware hall and a Japanese store on Talbert, two miles northeast of the beach city, shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday. The damage was estimated at $20,000.

R. A. West, a blacksmith, testified to having heard the old man uttering in his room, which was situated above the billiard hall, raving the flames, West rushed upstairs and found the door bolted in the inside. He broke the door down but a seething mass of flames prevented him from entering the room and rescuing Randall. West testified he saw the aged man lying near a window. Witnesses testified that Randall was not supposed to do any cooking in his room, owing to the danger from fire. No place could be found where Randall was found. Hence it was believed, according to Coroner Charles D. Brown, that the man disobeyed instructions, cooked his own meals and, thus, accidentally started the fire in which he lost his life.

Three Mexicans, giving their names as Manuel Felix, Elidoro Barra and Pablo Banaga, were being held in the county jail today in suspicion of having started the fire. Citizens reported having seen some Mexicans climb into a car and rush away just before the fire was discovered. Police believe the three Mexicans held here may be the ones who drove away in the car.

The only property saved was the billiard tables. All other property in the two buildings was a total loss. The Harper garage nearby caught on fire at several places.

The fire was believed by some to have started from an explosion of gasoline stove on which Randall may have been preparing his noon meal. Flames were first seen coming from his room, which was the only one of twenty on the second floor that was being used.

Randall had been employed by H. H. McCriston for several months. He is said to have a son at Chowchilla, a small town, near Porterville. All efforts to locate the son have failed.

Fireman from Huntington Beach, headed by Jack Tinsley, police chief, rushed to Talbert. They and the other fire fighters had difficulty in stopping the onrush of the flames because of a strong wind. Fifty gallons of fire extinguisher were used, it was reported.

No insurance was carried on the billiard hall by Talbert, but the Japanese store was insured for $700.

Those on the coroner's jury were Leonard Barr, foreman; G. W. Packel, S. R. Buckner, W. R. McKee, J. F. Day and James Heaston.

Suspect Hoax In Sending S. O. S. Call

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—The identity of the ship thought to have sent out an S. O. S. call last Saturday night, signing "JXA," still was undetermined today.

The original call was picked up by a station at Calgary, Alberta, and relayed to other stations in Pacific coast territory.

It was thought that the signal might have been sent out by a Japanese warship in distress in the north Pacific.

The possibility that the call was sent out by an amateur station as a hoax is entertained.

DARING BAD MAN STAGES JAIL BREAK

Notorious Desperado Captured Last Week Aided in Escape As Thugs Beat Jailer.

GREVE, Okla., Ed Lockhart, the southwest's most notorious desperado, gained his liberty today in a daring jail break.

Lockhart, arrested last week and lodged in jail at Jay, Okla., obtained his freedom when three men drove up in front of the jail in an automobile and beat Jailer Jack Carey over the head with butts of heavy revolvers until he agreed to release the outlaw.

The prisoner, with his pals, sped out of the city to the security of hiding places in the Osage hills.

Poses, led by Sheriff Smith, scoured the hills searching for the bandit gang.

Lockhart, a protege of Al Spencer, who was shot to death three weeks ago, has a long career as bank robber and outlaw. At Spencer's death he became head of the gang which for five years has operated in Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas, holding up banks, trains and paymasters.

Rewards of more than $20,000 had been offered for Lockhart's arrest.

This is Stokes' second divorce suit. Mrs. Stokes won the victory in the first one, but the verdict never became effective because of a technicality. Stokes names other men. Mrs. Stokes last week had her husband indicted in Chicago on a charge of besmirching her good name. Their feud had lasted five years and cost $1,000,000.

LOVE CHARM QUEST ENDS IN DEATH

Negro "Voodoo Doctor" Confesses to Brutal Slaying of Nurse

(By United Press Leased Wire) PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8.—Lorenzo Savage, negro "voodoo doctor," confessed early today, according to the police, to the murder of Elsie Barthel, 28, a pretty nurse. Miss Barthel was slain Saturday night. Her body was found under a porch of a deserted mansion of the Bloomfield district, the head crushed almost beyond recognition by a huge granite block weighing 75 pounds.

In one hand Miss Barthel clutched an envelope containing the "hand of death"—the ace, deuce, trey of diamonds and the five of spades. In the other hand was an empty envelope in which the nurse had placed $300 before leaving her home Saturday night.

Sought "Love Charm"

This sum, according to her relatives, she planned to pay to Savage for alleged love charms and spells. Savage was employed as a butler by Dr. R. S. Marshall, for whom Miss Barthel worked as a nurse.

Savage confessed to striking the girl a terrific blow in the face when she changed her mind and declined to pay him the money. This led him to murder the girl, according to his confession.

Owing to Savage's supposed "spiritual connection" with the pretty nurse, the negro was suspected from the start. He was arrested last night and after hours of grilling confessed to luring the young woman to the mansion.

Savage then admitted, according to police, that after telling the girl to the ground, he picked up the granite stone and dropped it on her head. Not satisfied with this, Savage said he hurled bricks at the lifeless form.

In Savage's lodgings, where he lived with his wife, police found a deck of cards, with the ace, deuce and trey of diamonds and the five of spades missing.

A handkerchief found near the girl's body also belonged to Savage, police said.

The negro's wife and Walter Hauley, a co-defendant who said he had been a close friend of the nurse for several years, are being held by police as material witnesses.

PREMIER WEAKENS UNDER STRAIN OF AMERICAN VISIT

(By United Press Leased Wire) WITH LLOYD GEORGE, MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—David Lloyd George's American program today bore the imprint of his own realization that there are after all limits to what a sixty-year-old man can do, be he ever so energetic and enthusiastic.

Britain's war time premier came to America with a reputation for never tiring, yet after less than three days of American experience divided between tumultuous greetings in the United States and an equally friendly reception from Canadians, he confessed he was "an old man, a tired man and unable to go through with" the program laid out for him.

Lloyd George took matters into his own hands and announced to Sir Alfred Cope, one of his secretaries, that the program must be curtailed from this on.

For a time it appeared as though today's public speech in the Montreal arena, to which seven thousand persons had tickets, would be called off. When Lloyd George learned about it, he put his back up and said flatly he would not speak in such a place as a hockey arena, where he would have to strain his voice to make himself heard from the prize ring platform to the limits of the audience.

Cope and the other secretaries were almost in tears. Local committees were frantic with anxiety lest Lloyd George should hold to his refusal.

Finally Lloyd George consented to go through with his Montreal program, but directed that word be wired ahead to Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg that functions in those places must be curtailed; that under no circumstances would more than one speech a day be delivered and that no unscheduled stops would be added to the itinerary of the special train which will convey Lloyd George west.

Plans for arriving in Ottawa early Tuesday were abandoned. The party will remain until Tuesday afternoon, reaching Ottawa about six o'clock in the evening.

Motion to Impeach Delegate From Montana Cause Of Convention Row

ACCUSED DELEGATE IN BITTER SPEECH

Declares Federation Chiefs Oppose Intelligent Leaders In Ranks

(By United Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 8.—Faced with a motion for his impeachment and revocation of his credentials, William F. Dunne, Butte, Montana, delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention today and pleaded his own defense.

Dunne followed Philip Murray, delegate of the United Mine Workers, who moved that he be branded as a "traitor" and unseated as a delegate.

The issue involved more than Dunne's right to sit in the convention. It marked the first real test of strength between factions in the federation gathering and its outcome was anticipated with interest.

"I came to this convention not as a communist but as a trade unionist," Dunne said. "I can prove that interests which hold the power of this convention are not the interests of men and women they are supposed to represent."

"I say that the pretended leaders of the labor movement are not acquainted with conditions in working ranks. The workers do not ride around in fine motor cars and do not get from $5,000 to $15,000 a year, as labor officials do. President Gompers is largely responsible for this. He does not want intelligent leadership in the trade union movement and he has succeeded in preventing it. He plays upon your ignorance and your prejudice. He despises you, if my judgment is at all correct, just as those newspapermen down in the press box despise you."

"The press has given you much favorable publicity and, oh, how you like it! But, six months from now, when the country is again in a period of depression, the press will turn on you and extend no sympathy to your organization."

At the conclusion of Dunne's speech, with more than a score of delegates on their feet shouting for recognition, President Gompers halted the debate, adjourning the convention until this afternoon.

Political issues came to the forefront today as the convention entered the second week of its session here.

Defeat of the resolution endorsing the "farmer-labor" or "third party" movement, was predicted by opponents and almost conceded by proponents. All admitted, however, that it would be the subject of extensive discussion.

TEAR BOMBS ARE NEW POLICE AID

ANAHEIM, Oct. 8.—The local police has just received from a Chicago firm a supply of tear bombs for use in case of an emergency, such as dispersing a mob or quelling a riot. The grenades do no permanent injury, it was said by Chief of Police Bert Moody, but have a very stimulative effect in forcing those who would oppose the officers to seek the air and thus bring about capture.

In the case of the recent barricade in Kentucky the bombs were ineffectual in driving the three desperadoes from their barricade however, and ammonia gas was injected to drive them out. Chief Moody explained that he did not think any such condition as existed in Kentucky would be found in Anaheim.

"They are a mighty good thing to have on hand in case of an emergency," the chief said.

Season Opens Oct. 11

May McDonald Hope Trio, with Miss Mosher, Soprano

Philharmonic Orchestra, Moisevitch and Zanelli to Follow

SANTA ANA! The success of this season is in your hands! We have obtained a wonderful program of great artists. The Association has performed its part and is proud of the result—we know you will appreciate it; we know you will take advantage of the opportunity to hear world-wide famous artists costing us from $800 to $1200 each, at such a small cost to you.

The first of the series is the May McDonald Hope Trio, which includes Lubovisky and Bronson, and will be assisted this year by Miss Mosher, soprano. This concert occurs next Thursday, October 11th, at the High School Auditorium.

These talented artists will be followed November

7th by Benno Moisevitch, famous pianist; March 11th by the Philharmonic Orchestra, and April 1 by Renato Zanelli, baritone.

No expense has been spared in securing features of individual appeal and interest, as well as artists and organizations of international reputation.

We are but a small band of Santa Ana citizens assuming this obligation and risk, accepting no financial profit, but profiting greatly in the pride, enjoyment and satisfaction of giving our city these worth-while programs.

And you will enjoy it with us!

American Legion October 15 to 19 and the annual reunion of former members of the 91st division
October 13 and 14, would meet

START FIRST ARMS
CASE PROSECUTION

The first prosecution to be conducted under provisions of the new state law regulating the possession of firearms was started
today in Justice J. B. Cox's court,
where Anpeto Chavez and Francisco Rivera, Stanton Mexicans,
were arraigned on a felony charge
of carrying concealed weapons.

Their preliminary hearing was set
for October 24, at 10 a. m.

The carrying of a concealed weapon, heretofore, had been rated as a misdemeanor and at present is holding such status so far as American citizens are concerned, the authorities pointed out today. In the case of aliens, however, the new law makes such an offense a felony.

More or less discussion of the law has been raised since it went into effect recently. In some quarters, it was said, there has been an inclination to question its constitutionality on the grounds that it discriminates between classes.

Chavez and Rivera were arrested Saturday evening in a raid by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, and Officers Adams,
Ryan, Elliott, McKague, Wallace
and Myers.

START FIRST ARMS
CASE PROSECUTION

The first prosecution to be conducted under provisions of the
new state law regulating the possession of firearms was started
today in Justice J. B. Cox's court,
where Anpeto Chavez and Francisco Rivera, Stanton Mexicans,
were arraigned on a felony charge
of carrying concealed weapons.

Their preliminary hearing was set
for October 24, at 10 a. m.

The carrying of a concealed
weapon, heretofore, had been
rated as a misdemeanor and at present is holding such status so
far as American citizens are concerned, the authorities pointed out
today. In the case of aliens, however, the new law makes such an
offense a felony.

More or less discussion of the
law has been raised since it went
into effect recently. In some quarters, it was said, there has been
an inclination to question its constitutionality on the grounds that
it discriminates between classes.

Chavez and Rivera were arrested Saturday evening in a raid by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, and Officers Adams,
Ryan, Elliott, McKague, Wallace
and Myers.

Costa Mesan Faces
Rum-Driving Charge

Jack Kavanaugh of Costa Mesa was held today under $300 bail for preliminary examination November 4, at 2 p. m., before Justice
J. B. Cox on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Motorcycle Officer W. W. Myers of Orange, arrested Kavanaugh yesterday on Newport boulevard.
The defendant was represented in court by Attorney W. F. Menton.

Legion Men Going
TO S. F. TO MEET

Executives of Santa Ana post
No. 131, American Legion, met today, announced that Orange county veterans of the World War who plan to leave here Friday for San Francisco, to attend the annual national convention of the American Legion October 15 to 19 and the annual reunion of former members of the 91st division
October 13 and 14, would meet at the Legion home on Birch street tonight at 7:30 o'clock, when matters pertaining to transportation will be arranged.

It is estimated that at least sixty veterans in Orange county plan to attend the two conventions.
They will proceed to San Francisco by auto, steamer and train.

SEEK 3 WOMEN IN MYSTERIOUS KNIFE CASE

The mystery of how Carter B. Kenney, 26, Santa Fe Springs oil worker, whose estranged wife is living with their year-old baby at Anaheim, was mutilated in a mid-night operation asserted to have been performed at Huntington Park remained unexplained today.

Los Angeles police, it was understood, were continuing a search for three women with whom Kenney was said to have been acquainted. One of these women, dispatches said, called at Kenney's place of residence a few nights ago.

Wife Tells Views

At the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gordon, 904 East Center street, Anaheim, Mrs. Kenney told newspapermen, according to advices received here, that she was certain Kenney was not a somnambulist. Dispatches Saturday had stated that Kenney, while walking in his sleep, might have been a victim of a self-inflicted wound.

"It is true," Mrs. Kenney said, "that the explosion of a huge firecracker near his head, causing him to lose consciousness for several hours last Fourth of July, affected my husband's condition for a short time. But he recovered immediately and I am certain that the explosion had nothing to do with his strange conduct in this case."

Had Ear Trouble
"Carter suffered for an extended time with ear trouble and it was only a short time ago that a delicate operation was performed in an attempt to relieve him from pain. "Of course he suffered from the shock and the operation," continued Mrs. Kenney, "but neither has anything to do with his mutilation."

According to Kenney, he went to bed about midnight Thursday after returning from the Santa Fe Springs oil field. He went to sleep immediately, he told police. When he awoke he found himself in a garage which adjoins his room, clad only in his underwear. The wound, he declared, had been inflicted with his own razor, which was on a shelf nearby. He then went back to his room, he asserted, without awakening his room-mate, dressed and drove to the South Side Hospital, where he received treatment.

A search of the garage was made but no blood was found on the floor. His room also failed to reveal any trace of blood.

UNION BIBLE CLASS TO RESUME STUDY

The Union Bible class of Santa Ana will resume its weekly meetings tomorrow night at the Immanuel church, Sixth and French streets, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. W. H. Pike of the Bible Institute, Los Angeles, who led the class last year, has been chosen again by the class as its teacher.

The book of Revelation, already studied by the class, may be reviewed Tuesday night, unless the Rev. Mr. Pike prefers to take up some other part of the Bible.

The Rev. Mr. Pike gave great satisfaction as teacher of this class last year, the attendance often being as many as 200, and very rarely under 100.

The Union Bible class stands for the fundamentals of real Christianity. It is undenominational, and lovers of the truth, without regard to church affiliation, are welcomed.

Library Board Not Due to Air Proposed Bond Issue Tonight

The proposed bond issue for the erection of a new library building for enlarging present quarters will not be discussed at the library board meeting at 8 o'clock tonight, according to Dr. C. D. Ball, president. Dr. Ball stated that the city planning commission had not been consulted regarding a new library building, adding that the board likely would want to know the commission's attitude before taking bond issue action.

BIG SALVATION ARMY NEED IS TOLD 1,000

Fully 1,000 Santa Ana residents who attended an open-air meeting held at Birch Park here yesterday, for the purpose of outlining the Salvation Army building campaign, today had a clear conception of the urgency of the Army's needs in this community, according to P. S. Lucas, manager of the campaign committee.

"We must admit," said Lucas, "that the Salvation Army is a vital necessity. You have been told that the 'wages of sin is death,' but I say that the wages of sin are paid by the whole community."

"Every sinner taken from Sin's pay roll means a direct financial benefit to every self-respecting man and woman in this city. The Salvation Army reaches a lot of people that the churches never reach."

"The Jesuits had a saying, 'A great deal of good can be done in the world, if one is not too careful who gets the credit.' It looks as though the Salvation Army may have adopted this motto. The big fault with the Army is that they never take the time to tell about the good they are doing."

"The Salvation Army has done a wonderful work in the past, though doing it quietly, and it will continue to do a great work in the future—and do it just as quietly. We cannot afford to neglect the opportunity to help this worthy cause."

Others who addressed the big crowd were Brigadier C. J. Boyd of Los Angeles and R. R. Miller, Orange county probation officer.

An excellent concert was given by the Los Angeles Salvation Army band. This week, speakers representing the executive committee in charge of the campaign fund will address the respective luncheon clubs, including the Lions, Rotarians, Kiwanis and others. The campaign probably will be launched about October 15.

SCOUT TRAFFIC SQUAD READY FOR DUTY

Boy Scouts under direction of Chief Scout Executive Roland E. Dye today were receiving final instructions in connection with the parts they are to play here tomorrow in doing traffic duty at the North Main street schools. According to Dye, who is co-operating with school principals and the Santa Ana Association of Insurance agencies, 25 Scouts will be used in the campaign to protect school children from careless motorists.

"We hope," said Dye, "that all will be in readiness to place the Traffic Scouts in their respective positions early tomorrow. The boys will be stationed on Main street, near the Washington and Frances E. Willard schools, and at the intersections of Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh streets."

"With lines marked on Main street, warning motorists that they are approaching the schools, with lanes mapped out for the pupils to follow in crossing the street, and with trained Scouts instructed to stop traffic and direct the children across the street, we hope to be able to eliminate many of the hazards to which the pupils have been subjected in this district."

At the two North Main street schools today pupils were receiving final instructions from their teachers and principals, concerning the manner in which they shall cross the street. The pupils will be subject to the orders of the respective Scout captains, who will be on duty at the end of each forty-minute period, and will be held directly responsible for the safe crossing of the children. It was made clear that the children must use the lanes, plainly marked on the pavement, and "jay-walking" will be strictly prohibited.

Parent-Teachers

FRANCES E. WILLARD
Opening with community singing of America with Harry Garstang at the piano, members of the Frances Willard P.T.A. held an interesting session in the art room of the junior high school last Thursday afternoon. Miss Ruth Violette of the teaching staff, gave a pleasing piano number after which Miss Eloise Snell, pastor's assistant at the Congregational church (the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor) talked on team-work between parents and children, in keeping with the chapter on "Law of Teamwork" as treated in the year's study book, "Code of Morals" by Hutchins. The general theme of the afternoon was that "The good American works in friendly co-operation with his fellows."

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent, brought a timely and ideal message in a poem "If You Knew Me and I Knew You" which he read after which William S. Kellogg, principal and Mrs. Edith Thatcher, vice-principal and dean of girls were introduced, and made pleasant talks.

A reception to the teachers followed with refreshing punch and wafers served by the hostess committee, Mrs. E. B. Sprague and Mrs. H. H. Ball. Of interest to all members present was the naming of committee chairmen as follows: membership, Mrs. C. S. Crawford; reception, Mrs. Mary B. Robertson; art and education, Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon; ways and means, Mrs. J. M. Burlew; program, Mrs. Walter Fine; refreshment, Mrs. E. B. Sprague; legislature, Mrs. Fred Cole; press reporter, Mrs. Walter Fine. In a brief talk, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, district president, announced the all-day session of the fourth district federation at Tustin, Saturday, October 13, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

Daughters of Veterans

Sons and Daughters of Veterans will enjoy one of their famous pot-luck dinners at G. A. R. hall tonight at 6:30 o'clock, it was today announced.

ALLEGED I. W. W. TAKEN IN RUM RAID JAILED

Said to be a member of the I. W. W., Hiram Beekman today was arraigned before Justice J. B. Cox here on a charge of having possession of liquor and was ordered to pay a fine of $500 or serve 500 days in jail.

Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan headed a raiding party of officers, including Constable J. L. Elliott and Joe Ryan, and Lauren Hurd, Santa Ana police officer, who arrested Beekman Saturday afternoon in a deserted house just west of El Toro.

A large capacity still was unearthed by the officers, they said. Seven barrels of mash, a ten-gallon keg of liquor and about ten pint flasks, apparently ready for delivery, also were added to the find.

According to the officers, Beekman had been at El Toro for several months and had attracted suspicion on illicit operations. Beekman carried a membership card and other documents showing his connection with the I. W. W., it was said. In default of the money to pay his fine today, Beekman went to jail.

Interesting Session
Opens Year's Work
Of D. A. R.

Santa Ana chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its first meeting of the year Saturday at the home of Mrs. Ella Campau, 801 French street. Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, whom the chapter is most fortunate in having as regent for the coming year, presided.

Following the report by various officers and committee chairmen, Miss Jennie Lasby gave a most interesting review of recent events of world importance, emphasizing especially the European situation with regard to the Ruhr Valley and the Italian-Greek clash. She reviewed the work of the League of Nations to date, citing two of its outstanding accomplishments of the last year as the prevention of civil war in Albania and the restoration of better conditions in Austria. Their present problem under consideration is the matter of opium trade.

Lieutenant Melvin Hatch of Honolulu who is visiting his mother, the chapter regent, explained very clearly many points of flag etiquette about which there is often some doubt.

Mrs. Lyman Stookey, state regent, then spoke on the Monroe Doctrine which she called "an expression of ideas rather than a document."

Briefly tracing events in Europe and the Americas which led to the voicing of the famous doctrine by President Monroe in his speech of December 2, 1823, she told of the mutual interest of Great Britain and the United States in the independence of South American countries.

"In the hundred years since its framing, the Monroe Doctrine has had two tests, in 1852 regarding the Mexican situation and again in 1895 concerning boundary lines in Venezuela. One of America's great problems is to bind together the countries of this hemisphere," declared Mrs. Stookey.

Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis sang very beautifully, "I Think" by Hurligh. Miss Ruth Armstrong was her accompanist.

Mrs. Campau assisted by Miss Katherine Edwards, Mrs. John Clarkson and Mrs. Hudson, served delicious refreshments during the social hour which followed.

Sending a few scouts ahead to blaze the trail, members of the Julia Lathrop faculty hastened through their afternoon session at the junior high school last Friday and followed the trail to Laguna where an enjoyable evening was spent around the campfire, telling ghost stories, singing old favorites and above all else, devouring succulent steaks prepared by the host committee, the Misses Edith Cornell, Leila Thrasher, Hazel Thrasher and Mary Henderson.

Adding to the entertainment features were the stunts with which new members of the faculty had to earn their admission to the honored ranks. Each responded gamely and the resultant hilarity established a splendid bond between all members of the staff.

Quietly impressive were the nuptials Saturday afternoon, October 6, of Eugene L. Avery and Cora Lynn Kingsmore, both of Huntington Beach, who chose the attractive surroundings of the Hotel Cooper as the setting for their wedding.

HUGE TANK FOR OIL STORAGE COMPLETED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 8. —Work on the 1,000,000 barrel storage tank of the Associated Oil company was completed in contract time here Friday afternoon.

Work started in July. Work on the tank commenced July 21. Seventy-five days were required to build the mammoth structure.

Crude oil was to have been turned into the tank immediately after completion by the Associated company.

The Shattuck Construction company, builders of the tank, left immediately for Santa Fe Springs where they are to build another tank similar to the one just completed here.

The tank is said to be the largest reservoir of its kind in Southern California.

It is composed of dirt walls twenty-five feet high, with a concrete lining and covered over with a wooden roof.

The cost is placed at $250,000. The tank will hold 1,000,000 barrels of oil and is so constructed that the gas, which rises from the confined oil, is drawn off to an absorption plant, where it is converted into casing head gasoline.

Shaped like an egg the tank is 600 feet in length and 400 feet wide and covers over nine acres of ground. It is said that a crew of over 300 men were kept working night and day on the structure. Over 400 horses and mules were used, and several tractors and catapillars contributed their share of the excavating and grading work necessary to build the storage place.

Worked at Night. Huge lights on poles about the tank allowed the work to continue night and day. Twenty thousand tons of rock and gravel were necessary to build the concrete lining of the tank.

About 20,000 sacks of cement were used in the construction work.

It was necessary to excavate over 100,000 yards of dirt to build the reservoir, and about 3,000 yards of concrete lining were laid in the tank.

Seven million five hundred thousand feet of board roofing covered with asbestos forms the roof of the mammoth tank.

Thirty cars were used to bring the lumber into Huntington

Beach with which to build the top. Six car-loads of re-inforced steel and four carloads of asbestos were used to cover the top of the huge lake.

One car of nails was used to build the roof.

The tank is twenty-five feet high at the sides with the inner sides sloping. The flood of the tank slopes gradually to the center where a spillway slopes toward the north end of the tank. Two huge pipes on hinges are so fixed that they may be lowered or raised as the occasion demands to pump oil out of the tank.

The oil enters through pipes over the top. The roof of the structure is upheld by huge pillars and of beams. Electric lights illuminate the inside of the tank.

Man Looks Small. Looking from one end to the other on the inside of the structure a workman at the opposite end looks like an ant. Five minutes is the time consumed in walking from one end of the tank to the other, while to walk around on the inside takes nearly fifteen minutes.

The inside of the tank is air tight. The oil is pumped out of the tank directly to the company's wharves at twin harbors where it is loaded on the vessels. A pumping plant is being installed at Seal Beach, said L. D. Juris, chief engineer of the company.

The oil will be pumped into the tank directly from the wells in the local fields. According to reports received the huge lake will hold the output of all of the Associated wells in the local field for over one month.

A close estimate puts the time limit at filling the tank, at the present rate of production, at forty days.

Danger from fire is in a large degree lessened by a huge fire wall constructed around the tank at a considerable distance. The company also has several large steel tanks on their tank farm here.

NO DAMAGE TO CROPS HERE BY .28 INCH RAIN

Light showers in Santa Ana yesterday were gauged at .28 of an inch. Rains on September 11 measured .11 of an inch, making a total rainfall, since June, of .39 of an inch. Prior to October 20, last year, there was no rainfall for the corresponding period. The total rainfall for the season was 7.58 inches.

Rains over the county late yesterday afternoon and evening will open the hulls and make walnuts fall easier, but will not injure the crop or hinder in the gathering, according to J. E. Gowen, secretary and manager of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association. He said that unless more rain fell today
the walnuts would dry immediately.
Occasional light rains fell at Los Angeles yesterday, the general rainfall extending from Santa Barbara to near the Mexican border.

A heavy downpour was reported at 6 p. m. at Long Beach. The rains at Monrovia and El Centro were accompanied by heavy winds.
No damage has been reported from any section.

the San Joaquin valley seriously would damage the grape and bean crops, according to J. W. Adriance, farm advisor at Stockton, as farmers feared the tighter bunches of grapes would rot and the beans would be discolored.

Reports from San Diego indicate that the light showers which began falling late yesterday afternoon turned into a heavy shower at 8:30 o'clock. A strong wind accompanied the rain.

U. C. ALUMNI DRIVE FOR MEMBERS ON

"University of California alumni are making an enthusiastic response to the state-wide membership drive of the Alumni association this month," Miss Isabel Anderson, chairman of the 24th district, comprising Orange and Riverside counties, said here today.

"It is our aim to boost our state membership to as close to 100 per cent mark as possible," Miss Anderson added. She announced the plan by which every California alumnus in the city and county would be visited personally within the next week in the interest of the drive.

With a strong alumni membership only is it possible to carry on policies and movements for the good of the university which are only possible through organization, it was pointed out.

"In addition to the personal pleasure of being a member of the alumni association," Miss Anderson added, "there is a tremendous amount of good being done through the association executive offices, which every alumnus should be glad to support."

Miss Anderson and Warren K.
Hillyard, the latter in the county surveyor's office, are the local representatives on the county executive committee. They have enlisted the aid of Stanley Reinhaus, Fred Foray, Eugene Robinson and Mrs.
Paul Witmer in the membership drive in Santa Ana.

Tulare Ships 40 Cars Grapes Daily

TULARE, Oct. 8.—Shipments of fresh grapes from Tulare and nearby stations now average about 40 cars per week. From three to four cars are leaving daily over the Santa Fe to Chicago markets.
These are mostly table grapes from the Giganti ranch. Other local growers are shipping a number of carloads east daily, mainly to markets along the Atlantic seaboard. Pickers report more than forty cars of fresh grapes already shipped out and several other varieties not yet picked. The Ta-gas ranch, north of Tulare, recently shipped the first carload of Malagas from its new packing house. Shipments are expected to average more than a car daily.
Only fancy brands will be packed and will be arranged for the most fastidious consumers. All of the grapes are grown on the Tagas ranch and about twenty girls are employed in the new house.

HUNDREDS LAUD REMODELLED BANK HERE

Hundreds of Santa Ana and Orange county residents who availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the remodeled Orange County Trust and Savings bank Saturday afternoon and evening, today were liberal in their praise in describing the new appointments of this institution. Workmen for the past several weeks have been engaged in enlarging and improving the bank quarters.

According to Cashier E. B.
Sprague, several hundred visitors and patrons, according to the bank's housewarming invitation, called at the bank late Saturday and were escorted through the building.

"Not only were there hundreds of visitors," Sprague said, "but scores of friends and patrons sent flowers in profusion. Chrysanthemums and other cut flowers converted the lobby of the bank into a miniature hothouse. Flowers were sent from all sections of the county."

Sprague, in describing the improvements, said the space assigned all departments had been doubled, thus enabling the respective tellers and their assistants to work with greater ease. New lobby facilities will afford greater convenience for the bank's patrons. The safety deposit department and other banking facilities have been enlarged and improved, Sprague said, and the bank now compares favorably with the finest institutions of the kind anywhere in Southern Calif.

Officers of the bank held "open house" Saturday from 8 to 5:30,
and from 7 to 9 p. m.

ARREST YOUTH ON LARCENY CHARGE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 8.
—The preliminary hearing of Vernon Parks, 22 year old Garden Grove boy, will be held before Judge Warner's court here this afternoon.

Parks was arrested at the warehouse at Greenville, Friday afternoon by Chief of Police Jack Tinsley and Officer Ray Bradfield, charged with stealing a suit of clothes from the room of T. Ballard of 216 Ninth street of this city.

A Buick touring car alleged to belong to Ernest R. Crow of Long Beach was also found in his possession. The suit of clothes was recovered at his home in Garden Grove.

Parks admitted the theft of the articles, police said. He was arrested here October 18, 1922, on a forgery charge, and is on probation at the present time.

Several people were arrested for alleged violations of the motor vehicle act. R. K. Smith was arrested charged with violation of the parking ordinance.

ceived here recently by the police department. Mrs. Ferguson in her letter described the young man as 26 years of age, six feet tall and weighing about 215 pounds. He was light complexioned, and was said to be well educated.

His mother last heard of him
while he was working in the Hunwill lead to the discovery of her son.

ADDITIONS TO S. A. SCHOOLS SOON READY FOR PUPILS

Half-day Sessions Are to Be Discontinued In Few Weeks Is Plan

$150,000 IS SPENT

New Junior High Expected to Be Ready For Occupancy Jan. 1

Santa Ana school children will be able to attend regular sessions within the next thirty days, according to plans of the board of education announced today. Additional rooms which have been built on four city grammar schools will provide sufficient class space that half-day sessions may be discontinued, it was explained.

A total of $150,000 has been expended in making additions and alterations to the schools. The schools to which rooms have been added included the Lowell, Franklin, Spurgeon and McKinley. Three rooms were added to the Lowell, four to the Franklin, four to the Spurgeon and four rooms and a kindergarten to the McKinley.

To End Half-Day Sessions. Half-day sessions will be discontinued at the McKinley grammar school in thirty days, according to present indications. Work on additions at the school will be completed before that time, it was said.

Regular school days will begin at the Lowell, Franklin and Spurgeon within two weeks, it was said, as work on the classrooms has been completed.

Desks and equipment for the additional rooms were to be installed today. Construction work has been almost completed on all the rooms, according to reports of the architect, Frederick H. Bley.

Provision for additional space in the grammar schools was included in the program of the board of education to relieve congestion in Santa Ana schools through a two-proposition special school bond election.

COUNTY FORCED TO HANDLE ITS OWN INSANE

Incurable Cases Returned Though State Continues Care of All Others

Orange county now is being called on to take care of its own incurable insane.

This was made known today at the county hospital, where six patients, pronounced by state asylum authorities as incurable, are now being quartered.

Under a new state law, recently effective, the various counties that have facilities for taking care of their own insane are required to keep incurable cases. The state institutions still handle such cases as are regarded to be curable.

With the construction of the new psychopathic ward at the county hospital the state authorities held that Orange county has facilities for taking care of its own incurable cases. Therefore, the six patients were returned to this county from the state institution, where they had been committed.

At present there are nine "mental cases" at the county hospital, the number including three cases held under observation and not yet determined as insane.

Hospital authorities today stated that each insanity case received at the hospital will be committed to state institutions, as formerly. The state authorities pass upon the question of curability, and if the patients are judged to be incurable they are returned to the county.

Wife Claims Desertion In Suing for Divorce

FAVOR REFUSAL OF PASSES BY POLICEMEN

County Chiefs Say Donors May Expect 'Favors' to Enterprise By Men

Orange county police chiefs and city marshals, in general, agree with Chief of Police August Vollmer of Los Angeles, who wrote a letter to the Los Angeles county fair association refusing a personal pass to the fair and expressing the opinion to the effect that police officers should pay their own way and not accept passes.

The opinion of the Orange county police officers seemed to be that patrolmen have an opportunity to make capital of their public position and enter places of entertainment as an officer when no officer is needed. Among the chiefs expressing this idea was Jack Tinsley of Huntington Beach.

"I don't think that every fellow who wears a star should be allowed to attend all public functions free of charge, unless duty calls him there," Tinsley said. "If the 'cop' is patrolling or policing the grounds it is a different matter. I think the policeman should pay their own way to and from work because they are not actually on duty until they arrive at the station."

Almost the same idea was expressed by J. A. Porter of Newport Beach. City Marshal Porter said the courtesy of a free pass seldom was extended to the police officers of Newport Beach, and if it appeared that in granting the pass the grantor expected any special favor or "winking" at possible law violation he would expect his men to refuse the pass. If the pass is extended as a courtesy to public officers it would be entirely proper for the police officer to accept, Porter opined.

W. B. Moody, Anaheim's chief of police, thought that the extension of a pass might carry with it an expectation on the part of the person who granted it to overlook things.

The patrolman should not be expecting favors, but when they are extended to him in good faith as a courtesy I see no reason why he should not accept as any other person might do," he declared.

City Marshal Jemison of Orange could not be reached, but it was known he disapproved of the indiscriminate use of passes by his men and did not encourage any interest expecting favors to issue them to the Orange police force.

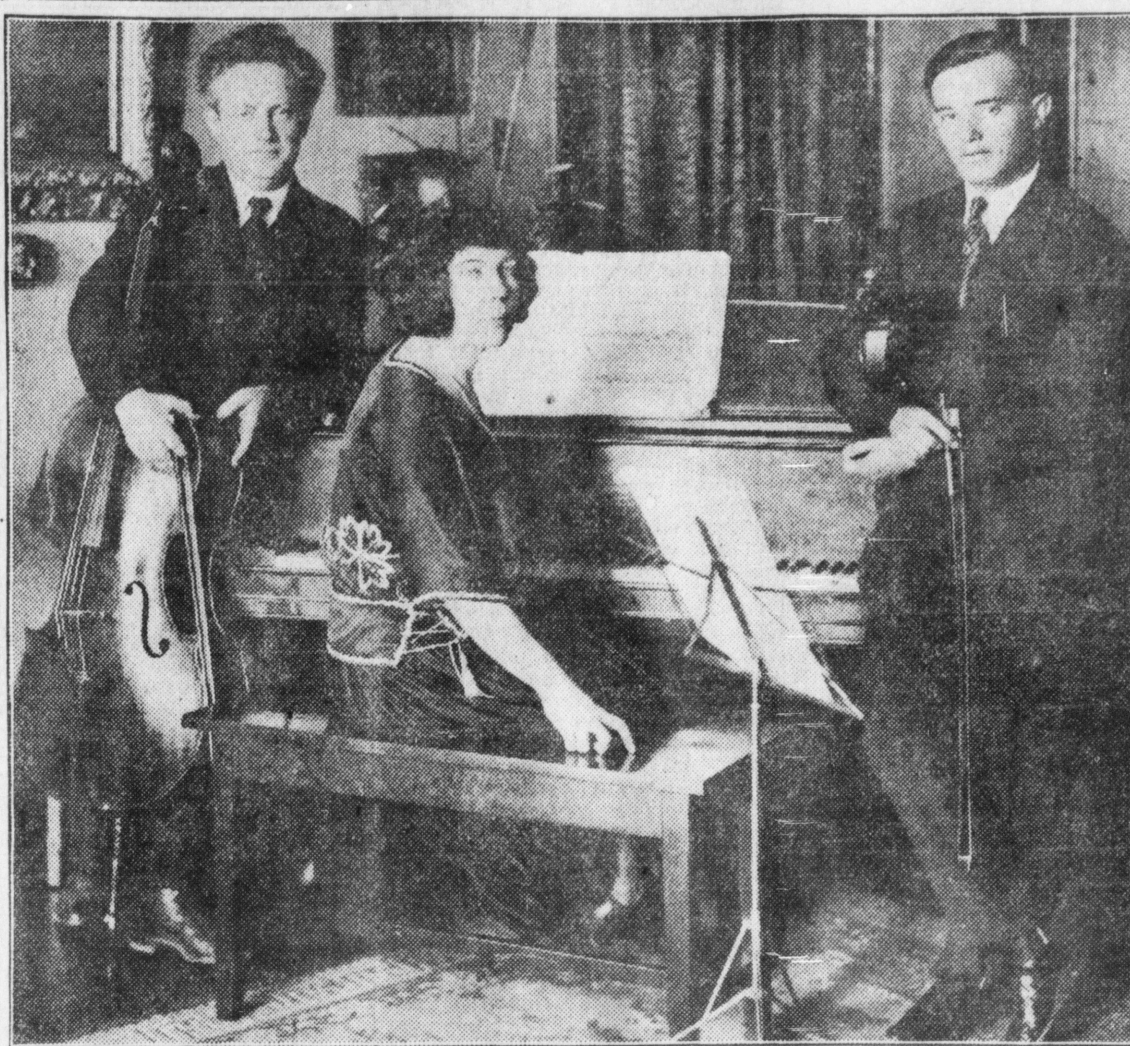

Arthur Eells, Fullerton chief of police, said he agreed with Chief Vollmer, but thought that "circumstances might alter cases." Like Chief Tinsley, he believed that if the policeman thought he was to do any "winking" he should refuse the pass and attend the affair to see that no infraction of the law took place.

Santa Ana police department members always have been favored with passes to fairs, shows and other exhibitions here, according to City Marshal Claude Rogers. He said he could see no reason to object to his men accepting the passes because it was tacitly understood that the officer would not allow the privilege to influence him in line of duty.

"The directors of the Orange county fair gave passes to my men," the chief said. "The men who made use of them returned the compliment by policing the fair grounds even in their leisure hours. I believe it can safely be said that the last fair was one of the most successful from a police standpoint."

"A policeman always is subject to call and the proprietor of a public place appreciates the opportunity of having the police make free entry into his establishment. He is given added protection in case of emergency."

GREAT PINE IS FELLED; FOLK FEEL REGRET

Another monarch has fallen. This time it is the great, towering knob cone pine which has stood for, lo, these many years at the corner of Fifteenth and Bush streets.

As is so often the case, progress itself is responsible for the passing of the landmark. Workmen, carrying out plans for new paving, were credited with the death-blow which caused the fall of the monarch.

According to Mrs. H. S. Kittle, residing at 1428 Bush street, the huge pine tree, being removed by W. L. Kirkpatrick, will be missed by many who have known and loved it for many years.

"Today," said Mrs. Kittle, "we feel that something very beautiful has been removed, but we are grateful for the comfort that old tree brought us in the years that are gone."

"It was the new Bush street paving that brought about the end. Workmen, it seems, cut into the tap-roots and it has been apparent for some time that the great old tree was slowly dying. When there no longer seemed any hope for it, it was decided to have it removed. But it cost us a pang!"

The tree, Kirkpatrick said, was one of the finest specimens of the kind in the Southland. It was three feet in circumference and was nearly 100 feet long. To the best of his knowledge, Kirkpatrick said, the tree was between 30 and 40 years old.

Two exceptional attractions will be offered by the Santa Ana Musical association, as the opening event of its series offerings this winter, at the high school auditorium here Thursday evening.

Alice Forsythe Mosher, lyric soprano, will be the vocalist of the evening, appearing with The Los Angeles Trio. Her clear voice, her bubbling animation and her restful stage presence are declared to have a charm of their own. Her many admirers said that she has a winning personality and is a most attractive girl, being of that unusual type, a brown-eyed blond, which, coupled with a graceful, willow form, makes a most effective picture.

Calmon Lubovski the violinist of The Los Angeles Trio, was born in Russia, as was Ilya Bronson, the cellist of the group. During eight years spent in Europe, Lubovski played as soloist under the most famous conductors of the continent, and in ensemble and chamber music has been associated with some of the most noted artists of the day.

Ilya Bronson received his education at the Imperial Music school in Odessa, winning the Reinecke scholarship in Leipzig as the "most talented pupil." He also has been connected with the leading orchestras and chamber music organizations of Europe, and in New York, as soloist with the New York Symphony and Philharmonic orchestras, he won a high place. He is now solo cellist of the Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles.

May MacDonald Hope, pianist, is a well known musician. For seven years she has pioneered unselfishly in the chamber music field and as a result The Los Angeles Trio has won for itself a place high in the esteem of the musicians and laymen of Southern California. Eight concerts were engaged by the University of California in the first summer concert series held by that institution, and six concerts were given under the auspices of the Chamber Music society last winter.

Tickets are on sale at the Santa Ana Book store, and at the First National, Farmers and Merchants, Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings, and the Orange County Trust and Savings banks.

COUNTY'S GAIN REVELATION TO ASSESSORS

Assessors from virtually every county in California, who had returned to their homes today following a successful convention held here, were a unit in declaring they enjoyed their stay here to the utmost and have only the highest praise for Orange county, according to County Assessor James Sleeper, who played host to more than ninety visitors during the week.

"The assessors," Sleeper declared, "returned to their homes with a very vivid picture of Santa Ana and Orange county in their minds. Many of them, before leaving Saturday night, told me they had never enjoyed a state convention as they enjoyed the one held here. At the same time, the daily discussion and the many helpful addresses delivered here will stimulate interest in matters affecting all the assessors and will go far toward paving the way for a successful convention at Napa next year."

Sleeper said some of the visiting assessors, who had never been in Orange county before, were amazed at the progress and prosperity apparent here.

"They said they had never seen such splendid groves and orchards," Sleeper asserted, "and our Orange county cities proved a revelation to many of the visitors, particularly those from some sections of Northern California."

At next year's convention, it was said, the assessors hope to have with them many of the supervisors of the respective California counties. It is believed many helpful suggestions and constructive programs will result from an interchange of ideas between the supervisors and the county assessors.

S. A. BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY TO BE USHERED IN WITHOUT FORMALITY

Judgment of First Citizen, W. H. Spurgeon, 54 Years Ago Proves Prophetic

GROOMS CITY TO LEAD

Pioneer Visualizes Growth of Metropolis While He Views Mustard Field

Santa Ana, one of the sightliest and most prosperous cities in Southern California, will be fifty-four years old next Wednesday.

There will be no formal celebration, no lighting of the candles on the birthday cake, but in the minds of scores of old-timers the coming October 10 will have a far-reaching significance.

It was on October 10, 1869, that William H. Spurgeon, stout-hearted Kentuckian bent upon finding the new and promised land, rode into a wilderness of mustard, dismounted, and climbed a tree.

That tree, a huge sycamore, stood for years near the site now occupied by a seed and feed store at the southwest corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets. Used as an observation tower, it served to assist the man who was to establish the city of Santa Ana.

Buys 76 Acre Tract.

Spurgeon, who, from the very outset, had unbounded faith in the Southland, made up his mind at once that this was to be his future home. He bought seventy-six acres of land from the Yorba estate and soon launched the Herculean task of converting the wilderness into a town.

A Los Angeles surveyor named Wright set out the stakes on the seventy-six acre townsite founded by Spurgeon.

According to old residents Spurgeon's foresight was little short of remarkable. He visualized a city and, although he was not to live to see the tremendous growth of the past few years, he did yeoman service in laying the foundations for a town that was to prove one of the most remarkable cities in California.

Provides Water Supply. Spurgeon, realizing that countless hundreds would follow in his footsteps, wisely made provision for the great population that was to follow. He interested himself in questions involving the water supply, sinking wells near the corner of Third and Sycamore streets, where the new addition to the post office building is now being made. In countless other ways Spurgeon and his associates paved the way for the growth of the city that is now Santa Ana.

According to well-informed realtors here, the work started by Spurgeon fifty-four years ago will result in a city second to none of its class in the Southland. The next ten years, they aver, will prove that Spurgeon was right when he said that this city was destined to lead the entire west in progress, in prosperity, in all-around usefulness and in general appeal to the man seeking a location for his home.

William Kahana, employee of a Los Angeles creamery concern, was at liberty today on his own recognizance, pending his trial before Justice J. B. Cox, October 26, at 10 a. m., on a charge of reckless driving.

It was alleged that Kahana was responsible for an automobile collision, complaint against him being signed by Andrew Jacobson, 602 South Main street, Santa Ana.

CSKELLEY DRUGGIST "IN BUSINESS FOR YOUR HEALTH"

“What Are You Doing to Prolong the Life of Your Teeth and Your Good Looks?”

The health of the people is one of the most important questions of the day. Anything which conceals information about health is little short of criminal.

People are entitled to know all about their teeth—all about dentistry—for infected teeth cause widespread sickness, disease and suffering. People can not know of these things unless they are told, and the best way to tell them is to advertise.

I advertise—because advertising educates and tells where good dentistry can be had, and the great masses of the people are now getting good dentistry while under the old style only the favored few knew about it and could afford it.

GOUGHAM READY FOR 1923 WORLD SERIES

Checks Begin to Pour In to Yank, Giant Offices As City Agog Again

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Without any surface indications of becoming agog or anything like that, New York was getting set today for the annual world's series between the Giants and the Yankees starting Wednesday afternoon in the New York stadium.

New York registers interest in sporting events by buying, not shouting, and America's biggest city is plenty interested in the coming fracas between the champions of Manhattan and the Bronx.

There are no pictures of the winning teams in the shop windows as in Cleveland in 1920. The New York coppers are not telling strangers all about McGraw and Huggins in the way the Cincinnati cops related the virtues of Pat Moran in 1919. The schools are not going to be dismissed for the series and business will move along as usual.

The main evidence that a world's series is to be played here and that customers are going to see the games can be found on the desks in the offices of the Giants or the Yankees where bushels of certified checks are dropped after each delivery of mail.

Ready to Go.
With the exception of the Yankees, who might like another week to bring around some cripples, everything is set for the opening game.

Commissioner Landis has established his headquarters in town. The Giants are ready and the advance guard of out of town fans are clattering up the hotels.

The Yankees were to work out today and tomorrow in the Polo Grounds while the Giants are taking advantage of more opportunities to wise themselves to the air currents and shadows of the Yankee Stadium.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, said today that his team was ready, that he would start the regular lineup and that he had not decided on the opening pitcher.

Miller Huggins hinted at a change in the lineup which might come as a tremendous surprise. It will not be known until shortly before game time Wednesday whether Wally Pipp and Bob Meusel will be able to hold their regular places in the Yankee lineup. If they are unable to play, Huggins will shift Babe Ruth to first base and Hendricks, Witt and Smith will patrol the outfield.

Jones or Hoyt on Slab.
Jones or Hoyt will hurl the opening game, unless the weather should be such that Joe Bush would be particularly effective. In announcing that Miller Huggins had been signed to a new one-year contract and that he could have the job as long as he wanted it, Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yanks, obviously sought to convey upon the athletes on his payroll that Huggins was their real boss and that they should do what he says during the series.

The Yanks, however, have been doing what Huggins told them all year.

That time-honored custom of the “bugs” forming midnight lines before the ticket windows may be abolished this year. There will be no need of it.

Ed Barrow, business manager for the Yanks, said today that 38,000 unreserved seats will be placed on sale at 10 o'clock before each game played in the Yankee Stadium and that there would be plenty of seats for all. Twenty thousand reserved seats and 500 boxes have been well sold.

Arrangements are being made to handle 63,000 customers in the Stadium, but if the demand makes it necessary, 70,000 can be crowded into the stands. The Polo Grounds will seat 53,000.

Fullerton Eleven Loses to Toilers
FULLERTON, Oct. 8.—The powerful Manual Arts High school of Los Angeles eleven, defeated Fullerton, 18 to 6, in a fast game played here Saturday. The Toilers presented a driving offense which swept the locals off their feet in the second and third quarters.

Poster of Manual Arts intercepted a Fullerton pass and ran forty yards to a touchdown. A play of Fullerton nearly duplicated his feat when he caught an attempted Manual pass and ran thirty-five yards to the Toiler five-yard line. Kisser completed the job by taking the oval across the line.

The lineup:
Manual Arts (18) Fullerton (6)
Redfern ..... L. E. Edwards
Watson ..... L. T. Grey
Davis ..... L. G. Boissac
Moore ..... C. Dowling
Norsted ..... R. G. Salter

Foster ..... R. E. Courtney

Smith, Roberts, Hone, Rodgers, Substitutes: For Manual Arts—Kennedy, Bond, For Fullerton—Bergman, Nanson, Barton, French.

Rigney's bat knocked the Tigers into second place in the American league race. His triple tied the score in the seventh and his single in the ninth drove in the run that beat the Browns, 7 to 6.

THEY'RE FOR YANKS

Walter Hoyt, pitcher for the New York Yankees, is sure of plenty of support when he steps into the box during the world series. And here is the major part of it—his wife and baby son.

DONZA BEST RIVAL LOUIE HAS BATTLED

Placentia ‘Sheik’ Must Be At Best to Win Orana Tilt Tomorrow

Heading a card of six bouts, Kid Louie, Placentia bantamweight, and Ashton Donza, crafty New Orleans 128-pounder, will meet in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club, at Orana, tomorrow night.

This will mark Donza's second appearance at the Champan avenue emporium of swat. Two weeks ago the New Orleans lad smashed Kid Sunday all around the ring for four rounds, winning hands down. Last week Louie came along and conquered the San Diego bantam, winning almost as easily.

Matchmaker C. I. McCoy then proceeded to match the two winners for his next attraction. Donza, a boy who has more than held his own with such well known performers as Ad Rubeaux and Young Farrell, is probably the best opponent Louie has yet faced. The Placentia Mexican will have to work as he never did before to come out in front.

Two weeks ago Jack Lewis ran Toby Montoya around and around the ring, the frightened Darney meal-ticket showing no inclination to stick out his tongue or slug it out with the hard looking New Orleans mitt slinger. In justice to Montoya it must be said he was slightly outwitted.

Lewis is a nifty little boxer but in Johnny Adams, San Bernardino 128-pounder, he will see more gloves shoved his way than he ever imagined were in captivity. The pair meet in the semi-final.

The rest of the Orana card follows:
Paul Donza vs. Joe Avery, 126 pounds.
Tex Jones vs. Tony Ross, 135 pounds.
Eddie Doolis vs. Eddie Shurley, 125 pounds.
Curly Brown vs. Young Moore, 130 pounds.

MITCHELL'S HOMER GIVES IRVINE TIE

With “Dutch” Hinrichs and Joe Rodgers dallying on the sacks and his team three tallies in arrears, Ralph Mitchell, Irvine second baseman, yesterday afternoon poured a cord of wood into one of Pitcher Bailey's fast one and rode it out of the park for a homer. The clout gave the Bear-pickers a 3 to 3 tie with the Hollywood Merchants in a game that rivalled the El Monte games for thrills.

Bailey was in great form for the visitors, allowing only six blows and whiffing fifteen hitters. After a poor start, Hinrichs settled down and unfurled a stellar brand of heaving for the Bear-pickers.

The Buick Auto team of Los Angeles will play at Irvine next Sunday. Manager Trickey announced today. The box score:

NEW PETITION CIRCULATED AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 8.—The circulation of a petition among taxpayers here to bring about a referendum vote on the ordinance granting to the Thomas W. Simmons company the use of the city pier and the right to pipe oil to Newport Beach from Huntington Beach and Santa Fe Springs has resulted in "undesirable" publicity for Newport Beach and to prevent a repetition of the Taxpayers League has started the circulation of a new petition requesting the board of trustees to pass a new ordinance governing the granting of any pipeline franchise, the sole purpose of which is for the loading of oil tank steamers.

This information was secured today from William H. Burnham, Jr., chairman of the executive committee of the Taxpayers League and official mouthpiece for that organization. The Newport Beach Taxpayers League was largely organized for the purpose of bringing about a referendum petition on the oil pipe line franchise.

Burnham Explains
"This new petition has been circulated," says Mr. Burnham, "with the idea of preventing, if possible, a repetition of the disagreeable controversy which has been stirred up during the past two months relative to the proposed oil tanker loading station on the Newport pier. This controversy has resulted in undesirable publicity for the city and has made necessary the expenditure of more or less money and a great deal of time by taxpayers of this city in the preparation and circulation of the petitions necessary to bring the question to the vote of the people."

The initiative petition as circulated reads as follows:
"To the board of trustees of the City of Newport Beach, Orange county, California: The undersigned, qualified electors of said City of Newport Beach, California, not less than fifteen percent of the electors of said city, hereby submit to you, the board of trustees of said city, the attached proposed ordinance, entitled:

"An ordinance of the City of Newport Beach, California, prohibiting the laying or installing in any city of Newport Beach, California, or places of said city, any pipe line or lines for transporting or delivering oil to any ocean-going vessel or vessels for shipment to any other place or places, declaring such installation or use a nuisance, prohibiting the granting of any permit or franchise for any such pipe line, lines and prescribing for violation hereof."

"Such an ordinance," says Burnham, "if passed, will make it necessary before again passing any ordinance similar to ordinance 242, on which the referendum has been called, for the board to first obtain the consent of the voters of this city."

The new ordinance proposed, in no way prohibits the Board from granting a franchise for an oil pipe-line for the use of fueling merchant ships nor for the transportation of fuel for factories or industrial plants of any kind.

Blames Oil Tankers
Mr. Burnham adds: "There is no question but that oil tankers are responsible for the great amount of damage which is being done the beaches located near tanker loading stations. The public press has been filled for six months with articles on this subject and recent resolutions passed by the different beach city chambers of commerce prove beyond a doubt that at this time the laws governing the resolution of the ocean by these oil carrying vessels are not only inadequate but are next to impossible of enforcement."

"Situating, as this city is, with three-quarters of the assessed valuation represented by residential property, or business properties dependent on these same residents for their patronage, it would be an extremely poor business proposition to encourage a tanker loading station here, which would undoubtedly, under present conditions, greatly damage property values and consequently materially lower the tax return to both the city and Orange county."

"If, at some future time, adequate laws and ordinances are

Gigantic Molar of Hairy Mammoth Found by Workman

ANAHEIM, Oct. 8.—The discovery near Richfield, in Northeastern Orange county, of the tooth of a hairy mammoth of the pleistocene age has attracted considerable interest among scientists in Southern California.

The giant molar, which was unearthed by workmen on the Warde Claxon property, was sent to Doctor Lytel of the Los Angeles Museum and was readily classified.

The discovery is considered an important one, since no traces of the hairy mammoth have been found nearer than 300 miles north of this latitude nor on this side of the Rocky Mountains.

Dr. Lytel made a hurried trip to the scene and expects to conduct further investigations in the interest of science.

EL TORO P.-T. A. HAS GOOD MEETING

EL TORO, Oct. 8.—The meeting of the P.-T. A. held Friday was very enjoyable, opening the year with many pleasant plans, benefitting the community.

Mrs. Freeman, the speaker, was given every attention and many helpful hints as to the success of such an organization were outlined in her paper. Mrs. Freeman is a very interesting speaker because her heart interests are in the P.-T. A. work.

The El Toro association is much indebted to her for her friendly talk. During the business session, Mrs. Harvey Bennett was elected secretary, as Mrs. Taft resigned. The chairman of standing committees were named as follows: program, Mrs. H. P. Bennett; publicity, Mrs. G. W. Conway; ways and means, Mrs. H. W. Swartz; membership, Mrs. H. Whisler; reception, Mrs. M. B. Stevens; magazine and emblem, Mrs. J. W. Robertson; social, Mrs. N. L. Arnold.

Announcement was made of the district meeting, October 13, at the Tustin Union High school. It is hoped that El Toro will be well represented at this meeting.

The community is invited to the Halloween party at the hall on October 27 to be given by the P.-T. A. All such parties sponsored by the association have been well received heretofore. Light refreshments closed this altogether delightful meeting.

devised which can and will be properly enforced so that damage will not result, as it now does, from the loading and operation of oil tank ships, then, and only then, should the city consider for a moment the granting of such a franchise as the one covered by ordinance No. 242.

"If, at some future time, it can be proved that tankers will not damage our beach and bay and a legitimate proposition for a pipe-line is made the city for such a franchise, whereby the city will obtain proper and adequate compensation, which is in no way provided in the ordinance which the trustees have seen fit to pass, then the board may place such proof and evidence before the voters, who will be at liberty to either accept or reject the proposition."

"A number of valuable building improvements are now being held up awaiting the outcome of the referendum. Should the referendum fall these improvements will not be put in, which will mean an immediate and substantial loss to both city and county."

"The initiative ordinance, a petition for which is now in circulation, will give the people the necessary assurance they must have before they will put money into further building improvements. This ordinance will simply place the whole oil tanker question at the disposal of the voters at all times rather than at the discretion of the trustees. The people of this city feel that they are amply able to judge the merits of such propositions and are greatly adverse to having indiscriminate legislation forced upon them which makes necessary the institution of referendum proceedings."

C. E. UNION TO MEET IN MAY NEXT YEAR

ORANGE, Oct. 8.—The county Christian Endeavor union will meet next year in May to allow the officers to attend the summer Christian Endeavor conferences, it was decided at the closing session of the 1923 convention at the First Presbyterian church here yesterday. An amendment to the constitution provides for the change.

New officers were installed. A strong set of resolutions was reported by Homer Anderson, chairman, and L. D. Mercereau, Santa Ana, of the resolutions committee. In one of the resolutions the "modern tendency toward lawlessness and defiance is deplored and in another 'modern jazz' and the 'looseness in the relation of the sexes' is a subject for opposition."

The report of the resolutions committee follows:
"We, the members of the Orange County Christian Endeavor Union assembled in our thirty-fourth annual convention, October 5, 6, and 7, 1923 in the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, California, do hereby desire to express our sincere appreciation of the efforts of those who have in any way contributed to the success of this convention, particularly:

First, to President Charles E. Fuller and other county officers for their thought and energy in planning and carrying through so splendid a program;

Second, to the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Rev. Harry Rimmer, Rev. Van V. Eddings, Dr. O. P. Gifford, Mrs. Frances Neth, Ralph Isbell, the pastors the various churches and other speakers and conference workers for their messages of inspiration and consecration for better Christian service;

Third, to the pianists, soloists and musicians, whose ability and talent have proved such a power towards the success of the convention;

Fourth, to the First Presbyterian and Christian churches of Orange for housing the convention, and to the women of the churches and friends for the delightful entertainment provided;

Fifth, to the convention committee—Registration, Usher, Entertainment, Decorating, Poster, etc., all of whom have assisted so loyally in caring for the convention;

Sixth, to the Orange Daily News and Santa Ana Daily Register, and other newspapers of the county for the excellent publicity furnished through their columns.

"We desire to give our hearty endorsement to the work of the Hon. William Jennings Bryan in his defense of the Bible and the Christian faith against the attacks of agnosticism and atheism in the departments of science and philosophy in our public schools and colleges."

"We read with great sadness of the catastrophe that has swept over the empire of Japan. We may be slow to realize its significance, but God knows what it means, and we, with every other Christian organization urge that America and Americans be quick to respond to their need, both temporal and spiritual, and provide the channel through which God may touch that nation and bring it to Christ as its Savior."

"We deplore the modern tendency towards lawlessness and defiance even of the Constitution of

ARIZONA GOLD ON BIG RANCH DISCOVERED

ANAHEIM, Oct. 8.—Bringing with him a story of "gold by the shovel" and "pay dirt every where," Harry D. Riley, prominent local business man, has returned from Wickenburg, Ariz., where he went with W. M. Bender of Montebello to inspect a 1600-acre placer mine lease.

Riley said that the owner of the property, who is anxious to develop it, offered to pay $100 for every shovel of dirt, picked at any point on the 1600 acres, in which there was not a showing of gold. Eight tests were made at various points, and every test showed free gold in the contents of the shovel it was said.

Many interesting characters were seen by Riley on the trip. He was especially interested in the appearance of a number of prospectors who still haunt the old-time, abandoned mining camps and workings of nearly a generation ago. These men, with their gaunt, unshaven faces, matted hair and stooped shoulders and accompanied by the traditional burro, have spent their lives on the desert and in the great, rugged, dry hills which border the arid wastes. They never cease hunting for gold, and apparently are content with their slim diet and the company of their faithful donkeys.

One prospector was a woman hater who had spent many years on the desert. He is well educated, Riley said, and is secretary of three mining companies with workings on the desert.

Tales of the old deserted mining towns, especially Wickenburg, which once boasted a population of nearly three thousand but which now is a settlement of fifty residents, were told by Riley. The trip from the train station was made with a "flivver."

Leaving the railroad at Congress Junction, north of Phoenix, the party traveled across rocks, through sagebrush and up and down dry creek beds to the old mining town near where the placer lease is located. Two days were required to make the return trip.

these United States, and we urge our membership to study the duties and responsibilities of Christian citizenship to the end that not only may we be law abiding citizens ourselves but that we may exert our influence towards obedience to law in our communities and our support of the authorities who are charged with the enforcement of law.

"We desire to go on record as opposed to the modern jazz tendencies, the looseness in the relations of the sexes, and the indifference to moral law that are evident among young people today, and we shall earnestly pray and strive that these young people who now ignore God and His mercy may be brought to Christ and know Him as their Savior."

"With these matters in mind, be

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

YOST — Vaudeville and Jacques-Lucy, with Marguerite Courtot.
TEMPLE — "The White Rose," with all-star cast.

WEST END — "The Common Law," with Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle.

NEW PRINCESS — "The Victor," with Herbert Rawlinson.

"STRANGERS OF THE NIGHT" HERE TOMORROW

Fred Niblo has outdone all of his previous efforts, in "Strangers of the Night," his latest screen version of Walter Hackett's marvelous stage success, "Captain Applejack," which will be shown for three days at the New Princess theater starting tomorrow.

The man who directed "The Three Musketeers," "The Famous Mrs. Fair," "Blood and Sand" and "The Mark of Zorro," has again turned out a great screen play. Working on the brilliant story of the timid Britisher who becomes a pirate and roams the Spanish Main, he has embellished it with beautiful photography, magnificent settings and a superb cast.

Spectators will be thrilled by intense drama and be swept into gales of laughter as Matt Moore in the role of "Captain Applejack," fights through the mystery of the treasure hidden in his ancestral castle in Cornwall and swaggers in true buccaneering fashion aboard his pirate craft. Enid Bennett's blonde loveliness is contrasted against Barbara La Marr's dark seductiveness as these two brilliant actresses portray the intrigue and romantic adventure of the demure English miss and the beautiful Russian spy. Robert McKim is at his best as the leader of the pirate mutiny, and others in the cast who stand out distinctively are Emily Fitzroy, Otto Hoffman, Thomas Ricketts and Matilda Brundage.

There will be the usual matinee and evening performances during the three day engagement of this production.

"THE WHITE ROSE" ON SCREEN AT TEMPLE

In naming his newest photoplay production "The White Rose," now showing at the Temple, D. W. Griffith has happily combined a symbol of love and the character of his heroine in the play. An orphan girl, portrayed by Mae Marsh who returns to the Griffith banner after some seasons of absence, plucks a white rose and presents it to a youth of high station at their first meeting. The lover carries it through all his wanderings as a sustaining hope. The girl, after numerous vicissitudes, and amid the disdain and ridicule of her acquaintances, emerges from her woes the same innocent child she had been at first meeting her lover.

Ivor Novello, a young English actor, will be seen as the lover. Two contrasting roles of high importance in the play are enacted by Carol Dempster and Neil Hamilton. Miss Dempster's role is one ideally suited to her charm and talents, that of a proud girl of the South with wealth and social standing. Mr. Hamilton will be seen in an unusually vigorous characterization, and although a newcomer to the motion picture field from the speaking stage, it is predicted that he will quickly win the approval of motion picture patrons.

"THE COMMON LAW" NOW AT WEST END THEATRE

The West End theater is offering a picturization of R. W. Chambers' widely read novel, "The Common Law." This is a story of an artist's model and life in general in the art studios of modern times and it vividly portrays many of the humiliating indignities to which the models are compelled to submit. There is probably no star in all the realm of the cinema who is better equipped and more suited to the leading role than is lovely Corinne Griffith who portrays the difficult part with feeling, delicacy and finesse.

As Valerie West, the cultured daughter of refined parents, but who has now been thrown upon the world to earn her own living, after many attempts to secure employment she is at last in desperation driven to the studio of a painter to endeavor to secure work as a model.

Conway Tearle ably enacts the part of the artist, and the highly dramatic role of Querida is entrusted to Elliott Dexter.

FISHING BY MACHINERY

Some European genius of a fisherman has invented a device that catches fish by a sort of vacuum cleaning process. There is a big wire net that is dragged behind the boat, along the bottom, scooping in the fish. From the net a water pipe worked by a centrifugal pump carries them up onto the deck in a flowing stream.

A New York man has worked out the same idea a little differently. He has a submarine chaser fitted up with a wire scoop in front, with a bucket belt worked by machinery hauling up the fish.

Thus the most leisurely of occupations bids fair to become one of the most efficient. It is a mournful outlook for the sportsman and conservationists.

And here in Southern California fishing by machinery of this sort will be met by fight. It's bad enough as it is. San Pedro fishermen, for a number of years, have been depleting the ocean fish supply. It has been hard enough to enforce what protective laws have been enacted, and harder yet to get the protective laws. The last legislature passed a measure that was designed to save our fishing fields. It was proposed to outlaw nets that are destructive to marine life—nets that are known to be such by all who are at all familiar with the subject of conservation of fish.

The bill, however, failed to receive the sanction of the governor, and the efforts at conservation were lost. The fish trust that operates out of San Pedro is left to proceed along its destructive way unhampered by legislation.

Without a doubt, the greedy cannery owners will be fishing by machinery just as soon as they can get around to it conveniently. If possible, the state legislature should "beat them to it"; that is, a law preventing the use of machinery of the sort outlined in this editorial should be put into effect before the canneries get into action with new-fangled ways of getting fish upon a deck.

PROGRESS FOR "P. R."

Proportional representation is making headway in this country. It is only five years since the first American city, Ashtabula, O., adopted the system. Now it is in use in several cities, and goes into effect November 6 in Cleveland, the largest American municipality yet won over to it.

No city trying "P. R." seems to have given it up voluntarily, though West Hartford, Conn., was deprived of the plan by the state legislature and it was lost to Kalamazoo, Mich. and Sacramento, Cal., by court decisions. Sacramento is now trying to regain it.

One of the curious things about proportional representation is that it is regarded in America as an untried novelty. It was adopted in Denmark more than half a century ago and is in general use in Europe and many parts of the British Empire. A statistician reports that altogether, about 250,000,000 people are now living under some degree of this elective system.

A notable recruit for P. R. is Ireland. The plan was adopted by the Irish Free States and used in the last parliamentary election. The result shows how closely this device enables the results of an election to harmonize with the will of the voters. With 39 per cent of the total vote cast for the government party, that party won 41 per cent of the seats in parliament. With 27 per cent of the total vote, the Republican party won 30 per cent of the seats. With 13 per cent of the vote cast by the Labor party and an equal percentage by the Farmer party, each won 10 per cent of the seats. The independents cast 9 per cent of the votes and won 9 per cent of the seats. Nearly all of the Irish voters are now represented by lawmakers of their own first or second choice, instead of a big minority going unrepresented.

Here is, obviously, a better way of giving expression to the various shades of public opinion than is given by the ordinary device of simple majorities and pluralities in geographical districts. It enables a parliament or congress or city council to represent fairly a cross-section of the public. It is genuinely representative, it gives a voice to minorities—something always desirable in a free country.

OLD AGE AND GOLF

Some British physicians are said to be concerned over the fact that 12 elderly Englishmen have died this year while playing golf. The physicians have seen in that a warning that men in middle or later years should not play golf.

Following such a line of reasoning, it appears that elderly persons should cease going to bed or getting up or carrying on their regular work or retiring from business or doing any other fairly common and normal thing. Mortality statistics show that many people die while doing one or another of these things.

John D. Rockefeller would probably not thank any physician for ordering him from the golf links.

Again and again it is shown that general health is more important than specific fads or diet or exercise or fancy treatments. So, too, is a sane balance in living, giving to work and recreation, sleep, social intercourse and food, each its proper time and attention, and exercise that one man profits by physically may prove fatal to another man.

FOOD AND DOPE HABIT

A writer in the Manufacturer's Record maintains that the chief cause of a craving for narcotic drugs is hunger.

The narcotic habit, he explains, "results from undernourished and overworked nerves, seeking a palliative that should have been found in plenty of proteins and carbohydrates. During the war we used to shout, 'Food will win the war!' With equal truth might we say today, 'Food will prevent the narcotic habit.' Plenty of food is an aid to many things besides the merely bodily development, for with it goes a certain spiritual quality predisposing a people to right things, saving them from degeneracy."

If food is a preventive for dope addiction, it may be objected, why should this evil be more prevalent in the United States than elsewhere, when our people are so much more prosperous and well fed? There must be other important factors involved.

Nevertheless there is probably a good deal in the suggestion. It is well known that well-fed people are less likely to indulge to excess in alcohol or tobacco—both drugs—than those who whether from lack of food or from poor selection or bad cooking are undernourished. It might be found, on investigation, that the majority of persons falling easy prey to narcotic drugs suffered previously from a physical hunger, with the nervous and mental cravings that hunger produces.

"Fight dope with food" might be a good motto, both for prevention and cure, especially with growing children. Heroin or morphine, like alcoholic drinks, will have less attraction if the stomach is full.

Locating Southern Branch

The Santa Ana Register hints that Orange county would be a very suitable location for the Southern Branch of the state university, in the event that a new location is sought in the plans for the development of that institution. The Register says:

The time is at hand when steps are likely to be taken for the establishment of a new state university located in Southern California. Educators and others in close touch with the situation are agreed that conditions are such that the State cannot very well do otherwise than work toward the development of a sister institution to the University of California situated at Berkeley.

Throughout Southern California there is a feeling that steps should be taken immediately by the regents of the University of California for securing an adequate campus somewhere outside the thickly settled portion of Los Angeles. Los Angeles interests are quoted as saying that the proposed new university ought to be located "within an hour's ride of Los Angeles." Rather, it should be located at least an hour's ride away from Los Angeles. The history of universities proves that student life is not helped by proximity to a large city.

The Register's suggestion calls out the following comment from the San Bernardino Sun which has been an able and consistent supporter of Riverside as the location for the college of agriculture.

Yes, we recognize the fact that Santa Ana is just about one hour's ride from Los Angeles and that otherwise it fulfills conditions for an ideal site. But we still opine that we can well afford to devote all our energy to gaining support for the institution, leaving the matter of location to the future, or dismiss it as already disposed of. But if the coming southern university should be located in Los Angeles, as we think probable, its agricultural department should be in the country, and we have no reason to change our conviction that it ought to go to Riverside, to whose proposed farm school practically all of the southland is pledged.

Opportunities In Poultry

Those who attended the meeting of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce forum Tuesday night, went home convinced that there is money in poultry and egg production, that the industry is one that thrives in Riverside and that there is an opportunity for the people who come from the east to invest in small poultry farms and make a success, if they are intelligent in their methods and are not afraid of hard work. Attention was called to the manner in which land subdivisions in different parts of Southern California near the metropolis, have crowded out the poultry fanciers and they are coming to Riverside.

There are said to be 350,000 laying hens in Riverside. The industry is one of the most important in the community and instead of shipping eggs and birds east, the demand from the growing city of Los Angeles is an added reason for the development of small poultry ranches because the fertilizer is said to be the best for citrus groves of all animal fertilizers. It was stated that it is possible for the owner of a small grove to raise chickens and make money while his grove is coming into bearing and after it bears fruit, the fertilizer will assist in making the oranges pay.

One speaker stated that a resident who purchases any sort of a poultry farm is worth at least $10,000 to the community. If Riverside should have 1,000 poultry raisers within the next few years, their value to the community would be at least $10,000,000, an amount worth making a campaign to secure.

We are constantly impressed with the fact that it will be wise for Riverside to seek to develop the natural resources that it has at hand, particularly with those industries that have to do with agriculture and not the least important of these is animal husbandry in all of its branches, including dairying and by-products plants.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THAT X-RAY MEAL. Perhaps when you have heard some of your friends say that they have had an X-ray meal, you have wondered just what it was.

Well, as it serves a very useful purpose now in so many ways, a word about it might be of use to you.

Ordinarily the X-ray operator wants an absolutely empty intestine and asks you to take a dose of castor oil at night, and after the oil has operated you go to his office in the morning without breakfast. He mixes up the meal in a cup-barium—a metallic element, that goes through the intestine without change, and which will throw a shadow on his plate.

And now what happens? Well, shortly after you have taken the meal, a photograph of your stomach is taken as it accommodates itself to the meal, and shows if all parts of the stomach are working on it or not. You see if one part is not working it might be due to a growth, or something tying it down to another part of the body.

Then in six hours he takes another place, because there should not be any of the meal left in the stomach after six hours.

Then he watches it through different parts of the small intestine which as you know is a long tube twenty feet in diameter. Sometimes growths near the stomach will be interfering with the passage of the meal. Then near the other end of small intestine there may be a delay where the small intestine meets the large intestine. Then into the large intestine to appendix.

Some of the meal will go into appendix and out again. If any delay there, the operator will note it. Then up along the large intestine at right side of body, across the body to left side a few inches below stomach, to right side, and then down the left side and out of the body.

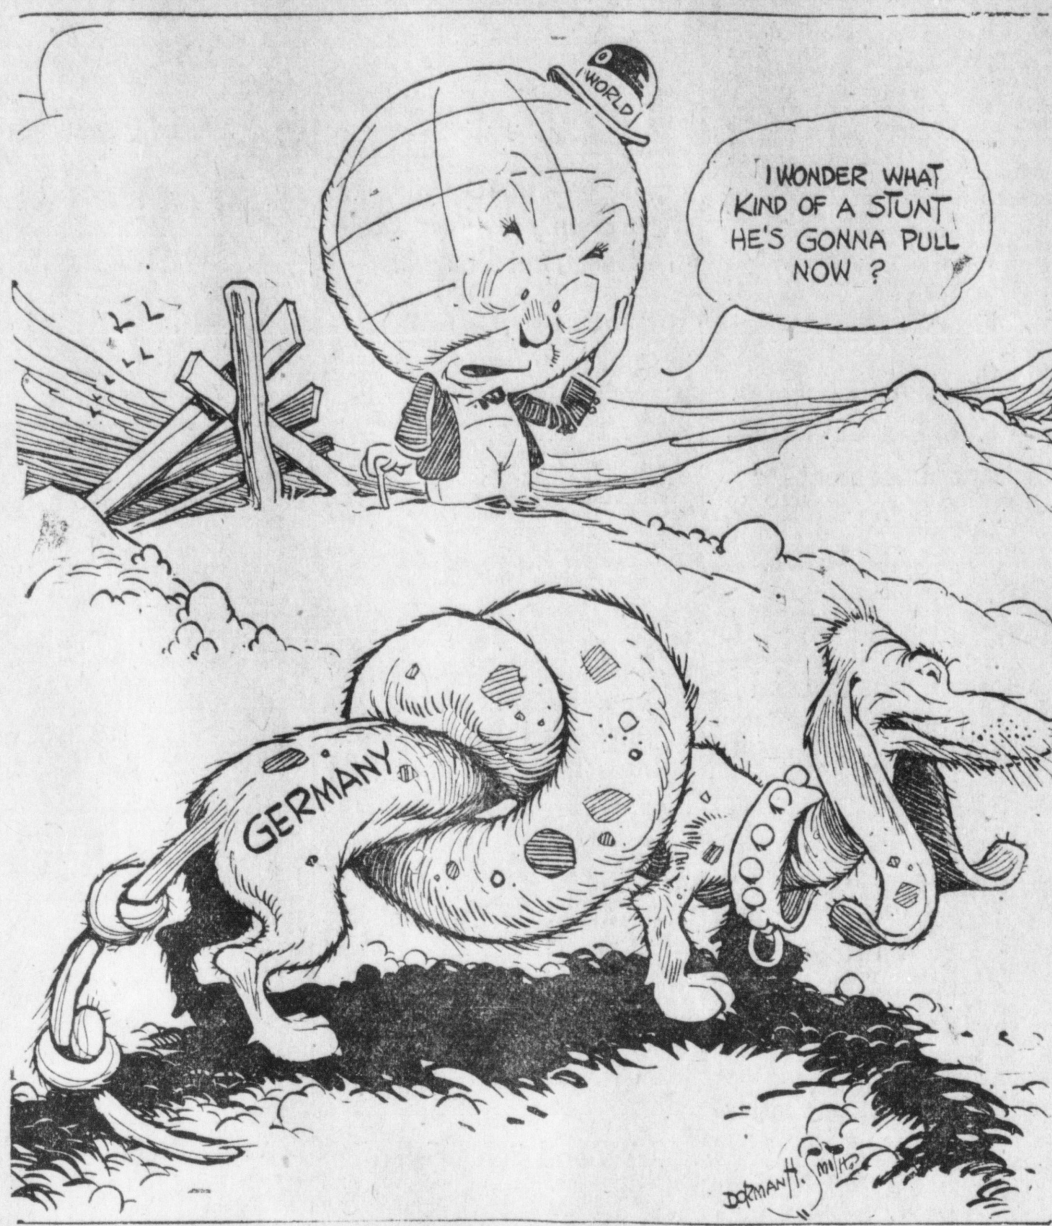

Any delay in the passage of the barium along the large intestine may mean a king there, but is more frequently due to just laziness of the intestine itself. As you know, material in the large bowel is ready to be thrown out of the body, and if it is delayed in any way you can readily see how it will effect your whole system.

You will feel lazy and indifferent without much interest in life.

So if your doctor suggests that you have an X-ray meal you would do well to follow his advice. It is harmless, painless, and not very expensive. Your future health, in fact your life's happiness, may depend upon the findings.

Crowded Colleges

Riverside Press

The colleges are jammed again, worse than ever. The demand for higher education exceeds the supply. Teaching forces, equipment, classroom space and living accommodations all are inadequate.

Vast sums are poured into colleges and universities to provide better facilities. Salaries are raised to attract more teachers to that field. But it takes time to meet the situation; and meanwhile, the crowd keeps on pouring in.

For the present, many colleges are driven to limit the number of admissions, after the manner of our national immigration plan. That protects them from being overwhelmed, but it is not a lasting solution. State universities and big city colleges find it harder to draw the line, and their classes grow larger and larger, to the disadvantage of the students, who receive less individual attention.

What is to be done about it? Surely this tremendous demand for a good education is in itself so desirable that every means should be taken to satisfy it. If it means bigger colleges, very well. If it means multiplication of colleges—which is probably the better way—very well. The essential thing is not to discourage the ambitious boys and girls hungry for learning, or deprive the country of the future benefits that will come from giving them what they want.

At Pomona college this year more students were turned away than were admitted and there is an element of tragedy in this because those young people were anxious to go to college.

One solution of the problem is the establishment of more publicly supported junior colleges; and California has very wisely made provision to encourage that educational development by allotting to each junior college authorized by the state board of education a lump sum of $2,000 annually and $100 per unit of average daily attendance. A junior college maintaining an average attendance of 200 receives $22,000 state aid besides the county apportionment which must match that made by the state.

THE LIVING PRESENCE

A moon, new-born, lifts wondering eyes
Where far in the west keep the white-stoled stars
Their solemn trysting with black-stoled pines,
Or watches down by the pasture bars
The little white stars of the blackberry vines.

Flashing her diamond-dusted horns
Astarte ablaze in the west outflames
Across the cordon line of the pines;
While soft, slow-footed, the darkness frames
The little white stars of the blackberry vines.

Little white feet of the moon race down,
I whisper a name by the pasture bars.
The dim dusk darkens under the pines;
But listening there are your great white stars,
And your little white stars of the blackberry vines.

TANKER FRANCHISE FOR BEACH CITY DISCUSSED.

Balboa, Oct. 4, 1923.
Editor Register.—In relation to the controversy over the oil tanker question, I wish to reiterate that the Taxpayers' League is in no way "bucking" the commercial development of the harbor. On the contrary, we are very loyal "boosters," more loyal to the county at large, we feel than are some of the harbor boosters.

A large number of successful and representative business men who own property here feel that, owing to the fact that there is every indication that the production of oil from the Southern California fields will be very materially reduced during the next six months or a year, there is little need of a new pipeline and loading station at Newport. The present pipelines are now able to carry the production of the three larger fields, which a few months ago were suffering from a peak of flush production. The best information obtainable shows this condition no longer to exist. The wells which were partially shut-in have again been opened up and still the total production of these fields is showing a rapid decline.

A copy of a letter from Judge Wm. R. Hervey, executive vice president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank, who certainly cannot be classed as a "hot-dog-vender," which some of our neighbors claim makes up the population of Balboa, is enclosed. This will give you some idea of the general attitude taken by these representative men, and will also point to one case among many where this city and the county are right now losing valuable improvements due to the "black-eye" which this town is already getting on account of the action taken by the present Newport Beach city board in flitting with a proposition of which they evidently knew little and cared less that the Chairman, Executive Committee of Taxpayers' League of Newport Beach.

The Hervey Letter.
The copy of the Hervey letter reads as follows:

"Los Angeles, California, September 27th, 1923.
"Your letter of September 7th arrived after my departure from Mexico and has just come to my attention."

"It was my intention to build a residence on my lots at an approximate cost of between $20,000 and $25,000, but I have now abandoned the idea of building at the present time."

"If the municipal authorities grant an oil pipeline franchise and permit the wharf to be used for the loading of tankers, I believe that the beach will be spoiled for recreation and the bay polluted and unattractive."

"At the present time Balboa to me is the most attractive seaside resort in Southern California and I would gladly establish my permanent summer home there if I had a reasonable assurance that the present conditions of the beach and bay would not be altered for the worse. If this oil project is carried through that district will certainly cease to be a recreation center and it may or may not in the course of time become a center of some commercial activity."

"A fine house on an oily bay with sticky oil refuse would be undesirable either as a summer home or an investment."

"Yours very truly,
"WM. H. HERVEY."

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~
~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

"What's the Australian wheelbarrow?" Cuffy inquired.

And Bramble and the Little Trick Mule seemed to think it a great joke.

A NATIVE OF AUSTRALIA

Cuffy Bear found the Kangaroo a bit difficult to talk to. He confided to his cage mate, Bramble the Bear, that in his opinion the Kangaroo was a peculiar person. "You think he's queer, do you?" said Bramble with a grin. "Well, just you wait until you see the Australian wheelbarrow!"

"What's that?" Cuffy inquired. "I wonder if it's anything like Johnnie Green's father's wheelbarrow. He has one, back on the farm. It squeals terribly."

Bramble the Bear called to the Little Trick Mule, who was nibbling grass near their cage.

"This cub" said Bramble, "wants to know what the Australian wheelbarrow is."

The Little Trick mule threw back his head and burst forth with a noisy hee-haw. Both he and Bramble laughed very heartily. But if there was a joke, Cuffy Bear couldn't see it.

He felt uncomfortable. For nobody likes to miss a joke. And Cuffy had a feeling that perhaps his friends were laughing at him.

Anyhow, he wouldn't ask them any more questions about the Australian wheelbarrow. He hoped that in time he would learn all about it from somebody else.

Well, that very day a man came along with his wife and eleven children and stopped in front of the Kangaroo's cage. There were cries of wonder from the whole family as they stared at the Kangaroo.

"What is it, Pa?" asked one of the smaller boys.

His father read, aloud, the placard upon the cage:

"THE KANGAROO. A NATIVE OF AUSTRALIA."

The man read slowly and distinctly. Cuffy Bear plainly heard every word. He was greatly surprised—and pleased, too. So the Kangaroo was an Australian! Ah! That was good news.

"I'll ask HIM what an Australian wheelbarrow is. He'll know," Cuffy chuckled. "Then maybe I can laugh at Bramble and the Little Trick Mule."

Bramble the Bear was sleeping peacefully in his end of the cage. He didn't dream what Cuffy was planning. He waved a paw to attract the Kangaroo's attention. He called to that odd chap, "I say Mr. Kangaroo!"

"That's me," the Kangaroo answered, wheeling about on his great, long tail.

"I've just learned you're an Australian," Cuffy cried.

"That's me again," said the Kangaroo.

"Then please tell me what an Australian wheelbarrow is," Cuffy begged him.

"That's!" The Kangaroo stepped short after one word.

Cuffy Bear had been almost sure he was once again going to say, "That's me," but he didn't. He glared angrily at Cuffy. Then he wheeled about on his tail.

He had turned his back on Cuffy Bear.
